NARRATOR: Christmas truly is the most wonderful time of the year. The very thought of it stirs up all kinds of feelings and emotions. A part of each and every Christmas are the memories we hold precious and dear. But more valuable than those sweet moments is the remembrance of a Savior, who came from heaven and changed the world.

As we retell the story of the birth of Jesus, we are reminded of the angels who proclaimed glad tidings of great joy. We remember Mary and Joseph as they sought for shelter in Bethlehem. Shepherds, wise men, Simeon, King Herod . . . all characters who took part in the wondrous event we call Christmas.

In the midst of remembering that glorious night of miracles, we cannot keep from rejoicing, for we have good reason to rejoice! Jesus Christ, God's Son, came seeking for you and me. He came to love, heal, and forgive! And once you experience his love, his healing, his forgiveness, you cannot keep from praising him and giving him glory.
